Deny Knowledge - Do Not Reproduce>

Earth is now recovering from attack by alien armed forces. Name, planet of origin, and purpose of enemy are unknown. These creatures, commonly referred to as L.E.D.s [Light-Emitting Demons] because they communicate with light instead of sound, have not responded to human signals. Conflict was brief, but casualties were heavy on both sides. All attacking forces have been destroyed or dispersed. Based on sudden loss of radio contact, working assumption is hostiles have relocated to the planet Mars and overrun our colony [Red Rock] there. Renewed strikes on Earth are possible. We have dispatched a Radical Tactics Expert to perform action reconnaissance and advise on strategy to recover colony. Following RTX report, further measures will be required.>>>

RADICAL TACTICS COMMAND [RADTAC]

CREATED: 2090 CE

PURPOSE: Train uniquely qualified soldiers to wage one-man war.

MISSION: Resolve local conflicts where the stakes are high, the best plan is uncertain and commanding officers are confused.

ORGANIZATION: Radical Tactics Command [RADTAC] is a military unit created to train and support a corps of elite officers from every service branch, each one a Radical Tactics Expert [RTX].

HISTORY: In the last decade of the 21st Century, the U.S. military found itself embroiled in a number of frontline engagements difficult to understand and control. Brigades and battalions were unwieldy. Small commando teams often proved clumsy. Spies were ineffectual. In reaction, the Joint Chiefs decided to refine the tradition of small group operations stemming from the Rangers, Green Berets, SEALs, and Delta Force, and try something radical: identify qualified professionals and train them for one-man missions.

IDENTIFICATION: The uniforms of RADTAC soldiers display this identifying mark. Beware of counterfeits.

RADICAL TACTICS EXPERT [RTX]

Elite warrior trained by RADTAC, a master of military improvisation who operates alone. His job is to enter a conflict, evaluate the situation and apply deadly force. See. Think. Act.

● COMCEN_TRANSMISSION: RED ROCK MISSION BRIEFING

Upon arrival at Phobos Station, assess situation and report. Acquire information on colony damage, colony survivors [if any], and LED infiltration. Reconnaissance in place. A backup team of Marines will follow--their ETA approximately 43 days. Following is info on our RADTAC expert and a Mars colony map.

I.R.I.S. [INDEPENDENT REMOVABLE INFORMATION SYSTEM]

DESCRIPTION: Portable computer module with human interface. Designed to operate in standard sockets on robots and data terminals for command and control.

HISTORY: By the turn of the 22nd century, technology has at last achieved the goal of incorporating human intelligence into digital machinery, and I.R.I.S. modules are as common as mobile phones. Everyone uses them to organize their lives, and many regard them as friends. Advanced versions are programmable. Wheeler has given his electronic sidekick a strong female personality.

● COMCEN_TRANSMISSION: I.R.I.S. WORLD

Be warned there are tactical problems that can only be solved by I.R.I.S. In these instances, be prepared to enter her electronic world, locate a signal bit and carry it through maze-like electrical circuits to the proper output terminal. No training can simulate this experience--stay alert. Use [the left analog stick] to avoid electrical hazards along the way. Toggle switches to change directions as needed to reach final goal by pressing the ▲ button.

ADVISORY: The signal bit will be trapped by empty logic gates. To recover a dropped bit, continue along the same circuit until it returns to the same gate.

4mm Handgun

Standard military sidearm issued to RTX operatives. Fires explosive bullets. Unlimited ammo supply.

Pressure Suit

Enables action outside on the Martian surface. Contains a limited air supply, which can be replenished by purchasing or finding oxygen bottles.

SUPPLEMENT:
RED ROCK/SMALL ARMS CACHE

To quell mob violence, the following items can be requisitioned in Administrative Command Centers by duly elected Colony officers with the proper access card. Using unconventional methods, RADTACs are capable of gaining entry.

4mm Machine Gun

Tranquilizer Gas

Anesthetic gas grenade intended for crowd control. Reported to stun L.E.D.s.

Stun Grenade

Concussion weapon intended for crowd control. Reported to damage L.E.D.s within blast radius.

HOSTILE THREAT

Earth faces a worldwide security threat from manifestly hostile alien species. Their technology is superior. Their intentions are mysterious. Our chances against them are uncertain. See additional supplements for information regarding threat types and known weapons.

- NAME: Real name unknown. Informally called Light Emitting Demons [L.E.D.s] by reporters who first noticed that they talk to each other using special light-producing organs, like fireflies.
- ORIGIN: All attempts to locate L.E.D. home planet have failed.
- PHYSICAL CHARACTERISTICS: Little is known. Like spiders, L.E.D. heads blend with their bodies. Like sharks, they have cartilage skeletons. When not protected by armor, L.E.D.s are fragile and easy to defeat. [Standard issue 4mm sidearm is adequate.] Unfortunately, unknown chemical reaction causes L.E.D.s to carbonize when their skin has been damaged, consuming their weapons along with their bodies.
- ARMAMENT: Variety of laser-guided plasma weapons to range fire upon humans, teleporters to send squads into combat, invisible electromagnetic armor to absorb battle damage.
- TACTICAL DOCTRINE: Be wary. L.E.D.s are aggressive when unchallenged, quick to retreat under fire, and suicidal when trapped. They seldom travel alone and will spawn reinforcements through their teleporters. Victory depends on acquisition of L.E.D. firepower. Stun them from close range by any means available [fire extinguishers are known to work] and commandeer their weapons. Search for metallic junk to sabotage their teleporters.
- WEAKNESSES: None--except, possibly, limited size of invading force.

SUPPLEMENT [Δ]: L.E.D. TYPES

Recent conflict resulted in close contact with enemy threat. Through careful examination, we have made assessments and identified the following [identify by style of battle gear].

Basic Warrior

While aggressive, will not hesitate to turn and flee. Be advised they will sometimes leave their weapons behind.

Advanced Warrior

Extremely aggressive, rarely retreats—can be cornered. Often distracted by close-proximity servobots.

Heavy Warrior

Very deadly and hard to kill. No known tactical weaknesses.

Technician

Harmless until provoked. Turns invisible to stalk prey with Probalyzer. Once concealed, can only be seen in Thermoscan [infrared] mode.

Officers

Large, heavily armed, dangerously aggressive. Look for them guarding important tactical positions.

SUPPLEMENT [B]: L.E.D. WEAPONS & AMMUNITION

All L.E.D. weapons are electromagnetic and use energy packs for ammunition. Weapon types consume power at different rates, depending on how deadly they are. In general, the more effective the weapon, the fewer shots available per pack.

Stage 1 Destructor

Basic one-handed laser weapon carried by L.E.D. warriors. More effective than 4mm handgun. Ammo limited: 50 shots / one-cell pack. Scavenge to replenish.

Stage 2 Destructor

High-power, one-handed laser. Ammo limited: 25 shots / one-cell pack. Scavenge to replenish.

Stage 3 Reaper

Rapid-fire, two-handed assault laser. Ammo limited: 100 shots / two-cell pack. Scavenge to replenish.

Stage 4 Eradicator

Slow-firing laser rifle with telescopic sights. Accurate for sniping at long range in first-person view. No auto-target functionality. Ammo: 20 shots / two-cell pack. Scavenge to replenish.

Stage 5 Annihilator

Continuous-fire particle beam super-weapon. Causes enemy targets to explode on contact. Damage can extend to nearby enemy units. Ammo: 10 shots / two-cell pack. Scavenge to replenish.

Ammo Energy Packs

These come in two standard sizes: single-cell units for one-handed weapons and double-cell units for two-handed weapons.

PERSONNEL FILES: CONSOLIDATED PLANETARY LIVE- WORK ENVIRONMENT [RED ROCK]

Data has been retrieved identifying key members of colony. Contact with the following individuals may prove necessary to complete mission.

NAME: Cimmeria Rajan
RANK: Chief Colony Officer

BACKGROUND: Native of Mars who spent nine years on Earth studying biology before returning to her home planet to become the CCO of Red Rock. She's young, beautiful, and smart. Her knowledge of colony operations may prove useful. She doesn't have much experience with weapons, however. If she survived the L.E.D. invasion, she's probably hiding and might be hard to find.

NAME: Boris Dezurov
RANK: H-VAC Sergeant

BACKGROUND: Arrived on Mars in 2047. One of the founders of Red Rock. Although now an old man, he might still be alive somewhere within the Main Colony. His practical knowledge of the colony layout could be valuable.

ADVISORY: If subject is found, use caution when approaching him. Medical logs indicate previous treatment for "mental fatigue."

● COMCEN_TRANSMISSION:

Records indicate approximately 200 registered colonists live in Red Rock. Damage reports indicate there may be up to 100 survivors. Rescue as many as possible without jeopardizing mission. Improvisation may be necessary.

CONFIDENTIAL:
[MILITARY USE ONLY]

PHENOMENON DETECTED:

Responding to suspicions raised by the colony founder, General Augustus Wheeler [E.Z.'s grandfather], classified magnetic surveys of Mars have been conducted at intervals over the years. They have, in fact, yielded evidence of space-time irregularities. Locations are vague and shift randomly. Be advised, these irregularities have recently increased. They may be connected to the L.E.D. invasion, or may indicate an older presence on the Red Planet. See attached supplement for details.

SUPPLEMENT: THE STONES

Colony logs [Gen. A. Wheeler, author] contain speculative references to special powers, possibly hidden in ordinary-looking Martian stones. In all likelihood, elder Wheeler was a victim of his own imagination. Be on the lookout, however, just in case. The following types are described:

Summoning Stone

Place it on special cairns to summon an Old Soul.

Blinding Stone

Wield it to blind the enemy.

Hiding Stone

Raise it high and become invisible for a brief time.

Healing Stone

Trigger its soothing glow to heal wounds.

EXPLOSIVES

Red Rock contains explosive devices that can be used as weapons. Must be dropped or thrown to use.

Small Butane Tank

Contains potentially explosive gas. Use it to eliminate multiple targets within a small area. Detonate by gun or laser fire.

Large Butane Tank

Contains potentially explosive gas. Too big to throw—drop instead. Detonate by gun or laser fire.

CONSUMABLES

Survival during mission may require acquisition of the following items. Purchase from vending machines located inside the colony, or find in emergency dispensers outside. Each provides medical assistance as the needs arise and may be kept in Inventory for use.

First Aid Kit

Restores health by one-third.

Health Kit

Restores health completely.

Oxygen Bottle

Completely refills the air tank on your Pressure Suit.

Conventional weapons aren't useful in all situations, and sometimes improvisation works best. Obtain the following items and store in Inventory to use as necessary.

Human Digitizer

Small device used by the L.E.D.s to contain prisoners of war. Capture from L.E.D. Technician and use it to store and protect colony survivors found hiding throughout Red Rock.

Fire Extinguisher

Primary purpose is to fight fires, always a danger in an airtight colony. Known to stun L.E.D.s.

Food Unit

Foil-wrapped, tofu-based snacks found in vending machines located throughout Red Rock. Throw like a grenade to distract L.E.D. vermin.

Officer Access Card

Credit-card shaped device used by Wheeler to operate shuttle bay on Phobos and by Cimmericia to open special doors within the colony.

Pieces of Junk

Small fragments of metal and wire scattered around Red Rock. Use to destroy L.E.D. teleporters.

Cash Card

Martian money found in chests and cabinets. Use in vending machines to buy consumable items.

Mars is rough country, and there are no highways. Navigation over long distances and treacherous terrain will be required. Look for mechanical assistance when traveling across the Martian surface.

Jetpack

Pressure Suit upgrade, enabling leaps to a maximum height of 5 meters and a maximum distance of 12 meters. Press the ✕ button to jump, and then press the ✕ button again while airborne to leap high, cross wide gaps, and cushion falls.

Rover

Tracked vehicle for long-range travel. Large enough to live in. Capable of ascending slopes that can't be climbed on foot. Press the ▲ button to enter.

Spider

A small, four-legged vehicle for scrabbling over steep terrain. Designed to leap tall obstacles in the weak Martian gravity. Press the ▲ button to mount.

L.E.D. Scout Ship

L.E.D. reconnaissance craft. Well-armed and highly maneuverable. Press the ▲ button to enter.

Red Rock contains many servobots to perform menial colony duties. Using I.R.I.S., each is available for use as situations arise.

Chickenbot

A small, two-wheeled servobot designed to perform colony maintenance.

Cargo Handler

Robotic arm used to shift cargo.

Laser Drill

A large maglev unit used to drill mining tunnels. Can be weaponized.

Repairbot

Treaded service vehicle impervious to radioactivity.

Hoverbot

A small flying servobot primarily used for aerial inspection.

Showgirl

Entertainment servobot willing to entertain enemy units.

Loaderbot

Flatbed cargo delivery vehicle.

Tractorbot

Treaded service vehicle at home on planet surface.
