STARTING POWER PLAY: SPORTS TRIVIA

POWER PLAY: SPORTS TRIVIA can be played by one to four players.

When the game starts, you will be prompted to select a theme. Are you an expert in BASKETBALL, BASEBALL, HOCKEY or FOOTBALL trivia? Or are you a guru of ALL sports knowledge? After you make your selection, you will be given a choice of two different types of games: TOURNAMENT and LAST MAN STANDING (see page 6).

After you've chosen the game type, you will be asked how many players will be participating. There must be a controller plugged in for each player. Use a MULTITAP to add more than two controllers. You'll be shown which controller each player has been assigned.

Each player then gets to enter a name and select an icon – just to help you keep straight who's who.

GAME TYPES

POWER PLAY: SPORTS TRIVIA has two kinds of games: TOURNAMENT and LAST MAN STANDING. The first is a quick sprint to the trivia Hall of Fame, and the other is an endurance contest for only the hardest stat-masters.

Tournament Game

A Tournament game is a simple battle between players for trivia supremacy. You'll be presented with ten questions that get increasingly more difficult. Each question is worth 100, 200 or 300 points. Answer a question correctly and you'll be awarded points; answer incorrectly and you'll lose points. Get a streak going by answering successive questions correctly – you'll be awarded the question's point value multiplied by your current streak count! The winner is the player with the most points at the end of the game.

So what kind of trivia master are you? For each correct answer, you'll move up in rank – from Pee-Wee to Legend!

Last Man Standing Game

Remember playing that schoolyard game called HORSE? As in that game, players in a Last Man Standing game take turns answering questions. No need to buzz in here, because only one player is active at a time. If you answer your question correctly, you'll be awarded the question's point value and maybe a bonus based on your streak count. If you answer incorrectly or not at all, you'll lose points and your miss count goes up.

When a player's miss count reaches the maximum, that player gets benched while the rest continue playing. The winner is the last remaining player! (In a single-player Last Man Standing game, you play until you miss the maximum allowed.)

You can select the allowable number of missed questions after you select the game type.

PLAYING A GAME

To play POWER PLAY: SPORTS TRIVIA, you've got to be smart and you've got to be quick. In a multi-player Tournament game, the first player to buzz in gets first crack at the question. Choose the correct answer and you get points. Choose a wrong answer (or fail to choose after buzzing in) and you lose points.

All questions are timed. Buzz in before the timer runs out – no stalling allowed in this game.

Here's an example of a question:

What is the MLB single-season record for wins by a pitcher?

- | | |
|---|----|
| △ | 36 |
| □ | 29 |
| ○ | 41 |
| × | 32 |

If you think you know the answer to this question, hit your buzzer key quickly and then choose your answer by pressing the Triangle, Square, Circle or X buttons.

AFTER THE GAME

Medal Ceremony

Every game finishes with the presentation of gold, silver and bronze medallions to the first, second and third place winners. After a tournament game, you'll also see your final sports trivia ranking.

Don't be surprised to see the gold medal go to a player knocked-out of a Last Man Standing game before the last remaining player. That just means the gold medallist got a good streak going and made out big-time with the bonus points!

Hall of Fame

Every player -- winner or not -- is eligible for the high score list, but only the top scorers can be inducted in the Hall of Fame. Two lists are maintained, one for Tournament players and the other for Last Man Standing players. The lists on a MEMORY CARD are used if one is inserted.
